Joe,

I told Mike that we would be in the range, but couldn't give a true price because we weren't registered yet. I did tell him we would be competitive in the market place. I think he took that out of context. I apologize for you getting the ass chewing. Definitely wasn't the intent. I will be sure to not say anything until we have a set pricing.

Subject: Azoxy Pricing

Matt,

Got my ass chewed out today because you told Mike Griffith that our Azoxy pricing would be around $150/gal. I thought we discussed not communicating price to anyone other than saying we would be competitive?

Not a fun conversation to have. The retail business is very complicated and a buying group such as IAP makes it even more confusing. Some things are better left unsaid and this was one of those cases.

We can discuss later.....
